"We love entertaining our friends, we couldn't think of a more perfect way to spend an afternoon" Prudence

AFTER THEIR BEAUTIFUL destination wedding on Hamilton Island last spring, Prudence and Dale Cougran returned home to Melbourne and settled back into work, and into life as a married couple. Soon afterwards, Prudence began planning a stylish lunch with some of the couple's closest friends.

Wanting to create a beautiful table setting for her guests, Prudence invited stylist Brett Currell to arrange flowers for the occasion. As the two have known each other since Prudence was a child, and Brett had styled Prudence and Dale's tropical wedding, the lunch was the perfect opportunity for them all to catch up. A gorgeous array of pink, blue and mauve blooms, including David Austin roses, hydrangeas, tuber roses and delphiniums, were placed into Royal Doulton 'Atelier' crystal vases. The flowers accentuated the soft palette of the Monique Uthallier for Royal Doulton 'Etoile Platinum' dinnerware.

As the couple's guests arrived they opened a celebratory bottle of champagne and caught up on each other's news, before sitting down to a delicious lunch at a beautifully styled table, the perfect way to spend an afternoon with friends. THESE TABLE

An old friend of Prudence's, floral stylist Brett Currell used a stunning selection of pale pink, blue and mauve blooms including David Austin roses, tuber roses, hydrangeas, delphiniums, hyacinths and scented geraniums for the lunch. The beautifully gathered bouquets were placed in an assortment of sparkling Monique Uthallier for Royal Doulton 'Atelier' crystal vases across the table and around the room, adding a burst of colour.
